Advisor manages each client’s accounts on an individualized basis. Further restrictions and guidelines imposed by clients may affect the composition and performance of custom portfolios. For these reasons, performance of overall portfolios within the same investment objective may differ and clients should not expect that the overall performance of their portfolios will be identical to any other client of Advisor. Client understands that reallocations, exchanges and sales of securities will create taxable events except when tax-exempt or tax-deferred accounts or vehicles are used. Client understands that Advisor gives priority to investment decisions over tax decisions and personal tax consequences for client are not a consideration. Portfolios - Advisor provides internal asset management of client’s funds. Advisor designs, revises, reallocates and manages several model portfolios. 1. This portfolio typically is invested in 30-40 stocks from the major developed countries of the world. The portfolio is concentrated in the healthcare, financial, energy, and technology sectors. The primary goal for the portfolio is to provide above average, long-term, risk-adjusted rates of return while placing a strong emphasis on preservation of capital. 2. U.S. Value Core Leaders Portfolios are primarily comprised of investments in domestic value and core companies with above average dividends and moderate P/E ratios. This portfolio typically is invested in 30-40 stocks. The fund follows the firm’s unique sector strategy. The primary goal for the U.S. Value Core Leaders Portfolio is to provide low-volatility with solid long-term rates of return while placing a strong emphasis on preservation of capital. 3. Global Growth Equity Portfolios are primarily comprised of investments in international large cap companies illustrating both value and growth characteristics. 50% of the portfolio can be invested in the United States. This portfolio typically is invested in 30-40 stocks. The fund is concentrated in the healthcare, financial, energy, and technology sectors. The primary goal for the Global Growth Equity Portfolio is to provide above average, long-term, risk-adjusted rates of return while placing a strong emphasis on preservation of capital. 4. Global Balanced Portfolios are comprised of 30-40 stocks combined with high-quality government and corporate bonds, with cash reserves. This portfolio is typically comprised of 65% stocks, 35% bonds. This portfolio is designed for investors seeking long-term capital appreciation, plus income, in a diversified and conservatively managed portfolio 5. Absolute Return Portfolios take a more sophisticated approach to stock and bond selection. The portfolio seeks to take advantage of opportunities in both bull and bear markets. This portfolio may utilize short positions, currency hedging, and straddles. Strategic also offers four mutual fund models: aggressive, aggressive value, moderate, and conservative. To determine the appropriate portfolio for each client, selection is determined based upon the client’s responses to an investor profile questionnaire involving investment objectives, risk tolerance, net worth, net income, age, time frame, tax situation and other various suitability factors. Consideration is also given to outside investments in 401k’s, 403b’s, or with outside money managers. Depending upon specific entry and exit dates, times, prices, availability and other factors, performance of model portfolios within the same investment objective should not differ and clients should generally expect that performance of their account portfolio will be identical to other clients of Advisor in same portfolio.

10	Clients of Advisor are under no obligation to use a recommended broker/dealer or custodian in the management of their investment management account. Conditions for Managing Accounts It is the general policy of the Advisor that investment management accounts maintained for its clients directly through the Advisor must have a minimum initial equity of $100,000 for our internal portfolios. Advisor has discretion to allow a lower limit upon specific review of each client's current and expected future situation. Fees may be adjusted up or down as appropriate if account value rises above or drops below a break point due to client deposits, withdrawals, reinvestments, market fluctuations and/or management fees, custodian fees, transaction fees or other fees. Minimum investment size can be lower where mutual fund models are utilized and/or internal portfolios are available through a third-party separate account platform.
11A, 11B	Review of Accounts Reviews of all investment advisory accounts occur on an ongoing basis. Computer programs monitor market price changes on a daily basis. Client reports are mailed out on a quarterly basis. Client account reviews may be conducted in person, or by mail, e-mail, fax, website posting or telephone. Advisor may hold periodic client group meetings to report progress of various model portfolios and an update on the markets, economy and other news. Clients shall review their trade confirmations and monthly statements from the custodian carefully upon receipt and are invited to contact the Advisor any time they have a question or concern. Clients may also view their accounts by logging on to custodian's web site or using telephone reporting services if provided by custodian. Financial plans are prepared for clients who have retained Advisor for this purpose. Upon completion of the plan, Advisor will deliver plan to client and answer any questions regarding the contents of the plan. There are no different levels of review. After this initial consultation, there are no further reviews unless the client requests additional meetings.
12A, 12B	Investment Discretion Discretionary Trading If a client agrees to discretionary management, Advisor will be responsible for selecting the amount of securities to be bought and sold. The only limitations on the investment authority will be those limitations imposed in writing by the client. In addition, the Advisor prefers clients to utilize a broker that the Advisor has an established relationship. Therefore, the Advisor will suggest brokers to clients. If the client directs the Advisor to use a particular broker or dealer, it should be understood that the Advisor will not have authority to negotiate commissions or obtain volume discounts, and best execution may not be achieved. In addition, a disparity in commission charges may exist between the commissions charged to other clients. The Advisor also has discretion over the selection and amount of securities to be bought or sold without obtaining specific client consent. Because the Advisor engages in an investment advisory business and manages more than one account, there may be conflicts of interest over the Advisor's time devoted to managing any one account and the allocation of investment opportunities among all accounts managed by the Advisor. The Advisor will attempt to resolve all such conflicts in a manner that is generally fair to all of its clients. The Advisor may give advice and take action with respect to any of its clients that may differ from advice given or the timing or nature of action taken with respect to any particular client so long as it is the Advisor's policy, to the extent practicable, to allocate investment opportunities over a period of time on a fair and equitable basis relative to other clients. The Advisor is not obligated to acquire for any account any security that the Advisor or its officers, partners, members or employees may acquire for its or their own accounts or for the account of any other client, if in the absolute discretion of the Advisor, it is not practical or desirable to acquire a position in such security. The Advisor also has complete discretion over the selection of the broker to be used and the commission rates to be paid. In selecting a broker for any transaction or series of transactions, the Adviser may consider a number of factors, including, for example, net price, clearance, settlement, reputation, financial strength and stability, efficiency of execution and error resolution, special execution capabilities, block trading and block positioning capabilities,

12A, 12B cont.	willingness to execute related or unrelated difficult transactions in the future, order of call, offering to the Advisor on-line access to computerized data regarding clients' accounts, the availability of stocks to borrow for short trades and other matters involved in the receipt of brokerage services generally. Soft-Dollars Advisor may execute portfolio transactions with broker/dealers that provide products and services that assist Advisor in fulfilling its investment management responsibilities ("Research and Brokerage Services") in accordance with applicable law. Research and Brokerage Services that assist Advisor with its investment decision-making may include: economic, industry, company research reports or investment recommendations; subscription to financial publications or research data; computerized databases; quotation equipment and services; research or analytical computer software and services; products or services that assist in effecting transactions, including services of third-party computer systems developers directly related to research and brokerage activities; effecting securities transactions; and performing functions incidental thereto (such as clearance and settlement). In addition to receiving these Research and Brokerage Services via written reports and computer-delivered services, they may also be provided to Advisor by telephone and in personal meetings with securities analysts, corporate and industry spokespersons, economists, academicians and government representatives. Although Advisor does not use client commissions to pay for products or services that do not qualify as Research and Brokerage Services, it may use commission dollars to obtain certain products or services that are not used exclusively in Advisor's investment decision-making process. In those circumstances, Advisor will make a good faith judgment to evaluate the various benefits and uses to which it intends to put the product or service, and pay for the functions that do not qualify as Research and Brokerage Services with cash. To the extent permitted by applicable law, broker-dealers that execute client transactions on an agency basis may receive commissions, in recognition of their Research and Brokerage Services, which are in excess of the amount of commissions that other broker-dealers may have charged. In order to cause the client to pay such higher commissions, Advisor will make a good faith determination that the commissions are reasonable in relation to the value of the Brokerage and Research Services provided, viewed in terms of the particular client transaction or Advisor's overall responsibilities to that client or its other clients. Typically, these Research and Brokerage Services assist Advisor in terms of its overall investment responsibilities to its clients, however, each product or service received may not benefit all clients. Certain of the Research and Brokerage Services Advisor receives are furnished by broker/dealers on their own initiative, either in connection with a particular transaction or as part of their overall services. In addition, Advisor may request a broker/dealer to provide a specific proprietary or third-party product or service, certain of which third-party products or services may be provided by another broker/dealer that is not a party to a particular transaction and is not connected with the transacting broker/dealer's overall services. While Advisor takes into account the Research and Brokerage Services provided in determining whether commissions are reasonable, neither Advisor nor its clients incur an obligation to the broker/dealer or third-party to pay for any product or service (or portion thereof) that assists Advisor in fulfilling its investment management responsibilities by generating a certain amount of commissions or otherwise. Advisor may execute an entire transaction with one broker/dealer and allocate all or a portion of the transaction and/or related commissions to another broker/dealer in connection with the provision of Research and Brokerage Services. In addition, Advisor may receive Research and Brokerage Services from broker/dealers in connection with Advisor's client orders for securities purchased in new issues. Aggregate Trading When possible, orders for the same security are combined or "batched" to facilitate best execution concerns. Advisor effects batched transactions in a manner designed to ensure that no participating client, including any proprietary account, is favored over any other client. Specifically, each client that participates in a batched transaction will participate at the average share price for all of the Advisor's transactions in that security on that business day, with respect to that batched order. Regarding transaction fees, Fidelity Investment Institutional Brokerage Group ("Fidelity") generally charges the same commission rate/minimum transaction charge for transactions placed in a client's account regardless of whether the client's transaction was part of a batched transaction or not. Securities purchased or sold in a batched transaction are allocated pro-rata, when possible, to the participating client accounts in proportion to the size of the order placed for each account. Advisor may, however, increase or decrease the amount of securities allocated to each account if necessary to avoid holding odd-lot or small numbers of shares for particular clients. Additionally, if Advisor is unable to fully execute a batched transaction and Advisor determines that it would be impractical to allocate a

12A, 12B cont.	small number of securities among the accounts participating in the transaction on a pro-rata basis, Advisor may allocate such securities in a manner determined in good faith to be a fair allocation. Directed Brokerage A client may direct Advisor to use a particular broker/dealer to execute transactions for its account. When a client directs the use of a particular broker/dealer, Advisor may not be in a position to freely negotiate commission rates or spreads, or to select broker/dealers on the basis of best price and execution. In addition, transactions for a client who directs brokerage may not be batched for execution with transactions in the same securities for other clients. As a result, directed brokerage transactions may result in higher commissions, greater spreads, or less favorable net prices than would be the case if Advisor were authorized to choose the broker/dealers through which to execute transactions for the client's account. Best Execution Advisor always attempts to achieve best execution for its clients. The best net price is an important factor in brokerage decisions, but other judgmental factors may also enter into this decision. These include: Advisor's knowledge of negotiated commission rates currently available, as well as other transaction costs; the nature of the security being traded; the size of the transaction; the desired timing of the trade; the activity existing and expected in the market for the particular security; confidentiality; execution, clearance, and settlement capabilities and costs; and other information available at the time of execution.
